

The Studio

kornrandolph inc., a Small Business and Woman Business Enterprise (SBE, WBE) is a professional organization providing services in landscape architecture. The studio was formed in 2002, is a California Corporation, and is owned by Amy Korn and Matt Randolph. The studio is located at 609 East Green Street, in the Playhouse District of Pasadena California.

kornrandolph is dedicated to design excellence. We focus on creating sophisticated and innovative landscape environments where people live, work and play. Combining ecology, art, and social sensibility, kornrandolph explores design solutions that are responsive to both the site and the people who experience it.

We are devoted to providing our clients with excellent service. Anticipating needs, problem solving and collaborating with design team professionals has proven to add value to our clients' projects. Our expertise goes beyond traditional landscape architectural services. We enter the design process as early as possible to provide our clients with valuable pre-design and advisory services in areas such as master planning and team building.

Our diverse project experience includes museum gardens, resort hotels, historical renovation, rooftop gardens, urban plazas, habitat restoration and private estates. Our skills in these areas coupled with a dedication to research and innovation continues to drive kornrandolph in the making of unique and inspiring places.
